To whom it may concern ,

This letter is being written to highlight the abilities of Martine Jowitt as both an Instructor and Senior Instructor using the UCLA Model of Applied Behavior Analysis in the treatment of her daughter.

Beginning in April of 1998 and continuing through September 2000, Martine received formal training in the UCLA Model of Applied Behavior Analysis from Renee Fillette, a consultant with the Lovaas Institute for Early Intervention East Coast site, one of several official replication sites for the Lovaas Institute for Early Intervention based in Los Angeles, California.

While providing as much as 20 hours of 1:1 instruction to her daughter each week, Martine worked closely with a team of 3-5 instructors. Martine took the initiative to work closely with Ms. Fillette, providing critical input for the development of the child's program. She was also instrumental in the implementation of these programs, and effectively led the team. Martine became very skilled at simultaneously instructing her daughter and collecting accurate data on her performance.

Within 18 months Martine had mastered the nuances of her daughter's program such that she was able to recruit and train new instructors in the application of the program. She remained fully involved in her daughter's program and frequently expressed an interest in applying her skills to work with other youngsters who were participating in this model of treatment. Martine continued her formal training with consultants from the Institute until 2001 and thereafter continued providing instruction to her child independently until the child's effective transition into a classroom environment.

It was a pleasure working with Martine and the entire Jowitt family, and we wish her well in her pursuit of a position as an instructor working with this model of instruction.

Sincerely,

Linda Wright M.A., CCC SLP
